FASHION WEEK

Stella McCartney presented an equestrian wardrobe that celebrated "love of animals" at Paris Fashion Week fashion week stella mccartney cheveaux

The meeting was given at the Manège de l'École Militaire, the oldest equestrian center in France, for a parade-event bringing together everything that Stella McCartney loves, starting with animals. A love shared by the world-famous equestrian artist Jean-François Pignon, who, surrounded by 7 of his white Camargue horses, provided the show alongside the tops parading with their feet in the sand. His very personal method is based on the freedom of the animal, respect and an unequivocal connection. Gallops, rolls or figures, the horses, under the impetus of their trainer who is described as a "horse whisperer". Between two performances, these beasts of the stage return to frolic freely in their expanses of the South of France.
